

COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES

Downtown Raleigh is a destination for thousands of college students each year. With North Carolina State University, the largest public university in North Carolina, less than one mile away and other colleges and universities circling the perimeter of downtown, Downtown Raleigh is a central hub for these students. Downtown also serves other large universities, such as The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Duke University and North Carolina Central University, all to the west of Raleigh. Close to 85,000 students are within a 30 mile radius of downtown, with close to 35,000 of that number within just one mile of the city center, providing Downtown Raleigh with a broad customers and employee base.
